Comiskey's Men Could Not Touch Genr-O'Hagan and Wilson Make a Beautiful Double When Bases Were Full.

the afternoon's frolic. After the first two tanings no seriously minded person for a game, and the Apostles had to carry on their work along defensive lines. While the Blues made their full share of errors, only one of the flukes proved costly, and when fast work was needed and selected from the locals, and they secured but five scattering hits off him. Attendance, 4,690. tunity offered itself for a really brilliant play, they were never wanting.

Dale Dudley Gear, A. M., Phi Gamma Delta, attorney and counselor at law at Greeley, Kas., pitched the game of his life, and to the young collegian belongs a generous share of credit for the favorable resuit. All that the far-famed and much touted sluggers from the city of Apostles were able to dig out of his delivery was five singles, scattered at irregular intervals through the various innings, only two of them combining in any one round. Gear gave a magnificent exhibition and fairly won his own ware. won his own game, won his own game.

The play which won the greatest applause from the 2,500 people present occurred in the third inning. Spies walked to first, Fricken flew out to McVicker, Burke singled, and Miller took life on a fielder's choice, an error allowing both the other runners to advance. With the bases full and but one out, Glenalvin sent a sharp grounder to O'Hagan, who fielded the bail cleanly and fired it to Wilson, who caught to O'Hagan before Glenalvin could reach the initial sack. This brilliant double play shut off from the Saints one of the best opportunities to score which they had during the game.

Again in the fourth the Aposties filled the bags and this time Gear retired them with-

Again in the fourth the Apostles filled the bags and this time Gear retired them without a run. After Glasscock and Geler had been put out Shugart drew a pass, and errors by Connaughton and Williams gave life to Gillen and Spies. Fricken gripped his willow and prepared to do his worst. Gear wound himself up like a Waterbury and sent a whizzer across the plate. The batter made no move.

"One strike," shouted Umpire Mannaster made no move. One strike," shouted Umpire Mannas-

"One strike," shouted Umpire Mannassau.

The next time the leather went from the box it was like a streak of lightning but fell wide of its mark.

"One ball."

Gear shot the sphere like a cannon ball and curved it around Fricken's neck.

"Two balls," cried the umpire.
The next one was a strike, and a leauty.
Fricken gave a terrific swing, but Wilson packed it fondly away in his mit.

Gear spat on his hands and twisted himself anew. The ball shot from his hand high in the air and far above the batter.
It was the third ball. The runners on the bags crept a little farther along the course and Fricken looked longingly toward first hase.

The Kansas City pitcher tied his wing in-base.

The Kansas City pitcher tied his wing into a hard knot, untied it, and then threw it around in a few additional whirls. The leather shot squarely over the plate and all Pricken could do was to swing at it a lia Casey.

Casey.

"You're out," was the unnecessary remark made by Umpire Mannassau, and "Pebble Jack" Glasscock frowned, picked up his big rad and walked over to first base while the Blues came in to make a trial with the stick.

Kansas City did three-fourths of her rungetting in the second inning. O'Hagan bunted his way to first and McVicker followed with a pretty double. Viox shot the ball into right field for three sacks and Gear brought him home with a single. In the fourth inning Gear's base on balls, Sia-

The double play made by O'Hagan and Wilson in the third inning was one of the most remarkable plays ever seen on the home grounds. The bases were full, and there was but one out, when Glenativia sent a sharp grounder to O'Hagan, who fielded the ball cleanly, threw it to Wilson, returing the runner from third, and received it in his hands again before the bataman could reach first. EASY FOR JEAN BEREAUD. Won Trial Stakes at New York Handily-Taral Took Sheepshead Bay Handleap. NEW YORK, June 25.-One of the largest crowds of the senson visited Sheepshead Bay to-day. The chief event on the card Bay to-day. The chief event on the card was the $20,000 Great Trial stakes, in which the crack 2-year-old, Jean Bereaud, was down to carry 129 pounds. He was the favorite at the odds of 2 to 5, while Glenheim was well backed at 9 to 2, and the other horses were nibbled at by the half holiday crowd. The start was delayed for some little time by Kingdon, and then by Glenheim, but the horses finally got away in good order and about on even terms. That did not last long, however, for at the sixteenth there was a crack in the atmosphere and Jean Bereaud was gone. In almost an instant he had opened a gap of three lengths and it was all over as far as the others were concerned, for they never could get anywhere near him. He won very easily, beating Kingdon by four lengths. Mr. Phinizy got third place.

Then came the Sheepshead Bay handicap, in which Ornament declined to carry the proper weight and was scratched. There was considerable delay at the post, and then the start was made in a terrible rain and dust storm. The horses ran into it as they came into the stretch, and Taral kept his head, stole in on the rail, and in an instant had come from the far rear and was leading the way home, eventually winning what looked like a hopeless race by three lengths. Summarles:

First race—5 furlongs; selling. High Lee, 199 (Doggett), 10 to 1, won; The Gardner, 199 1-5.

Sardonic was shipped from Chicago expressly for the Oaks, and her owner certainly made no mistake in sending her after the big stake, which is worth 42.90 to the winner. A heavy rain fell several hours before the racing began to-day, putting the track in poor shape, and the time made was not very fast. There were seven starters in the Oaks. After ten minutes' delay at the post the field was sent away closely bunched. At the half mile Sardonic took command and was never headed, winning out in a hard drive by two lengths from Her Favor, who had to be hard ridden to beat Martha II. for the place. The prosecuting witness is D. C. Romine, a Burlingame, Kas. stockman. He alleges that in December last he shipped a carload of of cattle from Burlingame to Kansas City. He was carried to the market with his stock free, but when he boarded a train to return home. Conductor Flanders refused to carry him without pay.

Romine declared he would not pay his fare, and Conductor Flanders asked him to leave the train at Argentine. It is expected that the legal department of the Santa Fe road will defend Conductor Flanders. He had not been arrested last night, but the warrant is in the hands of an officer. the law passed by the last legislature com-
